Why attend?

Organisations involved in the carriage of Dangerous Goods by Road and Sea have a duty to train all personnel in the general provisions of the regulations

This "revamped" seminar will 'run through' the Carriage of Dangerous Goods (CDG) from first principles covering: What the regulations are intended to achieve; What are the obligations; Who is responsible; How to classify goods; How to package materials; How to label goods; Essential documentation and security requirements

As part of the security aspects the Department for Transport new "Lockdown" video will be shown to delegates

It will also identify aspects of the other modal regulations such as Sea and Air

The seminar is aimed at those who have a duty under CDG/ADR, those who are unsure if they have an obligation under the regulation and those who want to understand more about the CDG regulation and its enforcement

Who should attend?

This one-day seminar will be relevant to all within the chemical industry who need to be aware of the obligations imposed under the Carriage of Dangerous Goods Regulations. Whether you consign, carry or store goods, the seminar will deliver "Peace of Mind" in knowing whether or not you are in scope of the regulation
